As part of a national effort by states to combat stolen-identity tax fraud, software programs are asking tax filers to provide their driver's license number or state-issued ID card number with their filing. Providing this information gives the State Tax Dept an extra security measure to help prevent refund fraud related to identity theft. Your return will not be rejected if you do not have a driver's license or state-issued ID. Providing the number is strictly voluntary and may help speed the processing of your return.

I, the undersigned, have been advised that all returns are subject to being e-filed, if eligible. If I have designated that I do not wish to have my tax returns e-filed, it is because I have made the decision to "Opt Out" of my own accord. I also realize that I will be charged an additional fee of $25 if my returns are eligible to be e-filed and I decide not to have my returns electronically filed.
